SIXTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES

ATTACHED TO

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL.

THE Managers of the Bellevue Training-School, in presenting their Sixteenth Annual Report to the public, feel that their work is so widely known and has so commended itself by its usefulness that to recount the history of the School is unnecessary.

The demand for trained nurses is one of the demands of the age, and the success of the School in meeting this great want has more than rewarded the founders of the School who, amid great discouragements, started the School in 1873.

From that small beginning which took its origin in imitation of the first English Training-School for Nurses, founded in honor of Florence Nightingale in connection with St. Thomas' Hospital (in 1860), there are now in the United States alone more than thirty training-schools, and yet in all of our large cities the demand for trained nurses is far greater than can be supplied—thus showing how widely the necessity of careful nursing is becoming a factor in all intelligent communities, and the universal testimony is that a trained nurse is sometimes as important in the sick-room as the physician.

As there cannot be a perfect training-school unless it be in connection with a hospital, admission to the Bellevue School is sought for by women from all parts of our country and Canada, and applicants have even come from England and Wales,—knowing that Bellevue Hospital has a reputation throughout the world as one of the great schools in clinical medicine, and where all the resources of medical and surgical sciences are centred.

When the School was opened in 1873 but five applicants were waiting for admission, while this year there were 1,263 who applied to the Superintendent by letter and over 200 who personally sought an interview with her. From this large number 30 were accepted; of these 12 left during their month of probation as unsuitable for the work or whose health failed after a few months of duty.

The Managers aim at a high standard of conduct and education in our nurses and the number of intelligent and refined women who are now applying for admission to the School show how many there are who would gladly avail themselves of the advantages such an education offers.

The full number in the School (64) is always maintained. Three more of our nurses have gone to St. Paul's Home in Rome, making six of our graduates who are rendering valuable services by their skilful ministry to travellers who are taken ill away from home.

Miss Martin, the Superintendent, writes that the large villa they now occupy enables her to take patients there, and several extreme cases have been thus cared for and all have recovered. The Marchesa Medici is much interested in the work of the Home. A new furnace has been sent from the United States which will add greatly to the comfort of the house. Several of our graduates have this year taken positions as matrons and superintendents in Western and Southern hospitals, and there have been over fifty applications from various hospitals for graduates to fill important positions.

Two of our nurses went to China—one as superintendent of a hospital, the other as missionary nurse.

During the prevalence of the yellow fever in Florida four of our best nurses volunteered their services to go and assist in nursing the sick and dying at Jacksonville.

Dr. Sollice Mitchell, on the return of the nurses to New York after two months' service, writes as follows: "As regards the Bellevue nurses, I would say that they have done most effective service. Miss Delano as head nurse and superintendent has been invaluable to me. Miss Dock has been in charge of the female ward and Miss Weir of my largest male ward. My good fortune in having such excellent trained nurses has been of the utmost value to me, and many a patient owes his life to these unacclimated nurses from the North, who so nobly answered to our call for help."

During the year a fine building, complete in all its arrangements, has been presented to the city by Mr. D. O. Mills for the training of male nurses. The building is on the grounds of the Hospital, and our Training-School has been asked by the City Commissioners to place our graduate nurses in those wards in Bellevue Hospital where the male nurses shall be instructed. Six of our nurses have consented to take charge of the work, and we trust this noble benefaction will be crowned with as great success as has attended the work of our School.

Several of our nurses have devoted themselves to district missionary work under the care of city missions, and the good results of their work in tenement houses are each year more apparent. The Hospital training is needed to do well this work, and yet a special fitness is needed by the district nurse as instructor. She must be able to teach to be really useful, and possessed of great patience and self-control, for educational nursing among the poor is not as rapid as one might imagine, but in the end gives good results. "Could we multiply many times the number of trained district nurses," writes the Superintendent of City Missions, "the next generation would show the good results of their teaching as well as of their care of the sick. The City Mission nurses care for about a thousand sick ones in every year, and in the neighborhood where she works, the nurse becomes an authority second only to the minister and physician."

The graduates now number 320; during 1888 seven have married and two have died.

Our register of nurses enables us to keep an interest in our graduates, and each year the list, with alterations and additions, is printed in each report.

The graduate nurses cheerfully pay the registry fee of ten dollars—showing their appreciation of the benefits they have secured from the School. During the past year there have been 1,029 calls for registered nurses.

It is the earnest desire of the authorities of Bellevue Hospital to employ our nurses in all the wards of the hospital, but it is not possible for the School to extend its work until a generous public shall furnish the means to enlarge our Home and provide for its maintenance.

Our nurses are now in charge of all the Female Wards, the Erysipelas and Insane Pavilions, the Sturges and Marquand Wards, and the Emergency Hospital.

The regular lectures delivered to the nurses were : Dr. Gill Wylie, on Obstetrics ; Dr. Herman Boggs, on Hygiene and Physiology ; Dr. Robert Carlisle, Diseases ; Dr. Jaspar Garmony, Anatomy and Emergencies ; Mr. Thomas Cecel, Massage and Electricity.

The Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent hold classes every week in Anatomy and Physiology, materia medica, symptoms of disease and nursing, from text-books, and practical instruction in the same in the wards.

During this year the School has sustained a great loss in the resignation of our most valued superintendent, Miss E. P. Perkins. For twelve years Miss Perkins has, by her clear judgment, impartial service, and intelligent comprehension of all the various needs of the School, been an unseen but felt power in the Training-School and in the Hospital. Under her judicious guidance, the School has grown to its present usefulness, and now, when she seeks rest from her long and continuous labors, she carries with her the love and respect of every Manager and graduate who has been associated with her. Her influence will be felt, we trust, in the thorough training and high sense of duty which will characterize our nurses who are now laboring in every part of our own land and in foreign countries.

Miss Brennan, who is a graduate of our School and who was associated with Miss Perkins as Assistant Superintendent, was unanimously elected by the Managers to fill her place.

The Managers would again render their thanks to the Medical Staff of Bellevue Hospital, to the physicians who have attended the nurses at the Home, and to the Warden of the Hospital, for their unvarying courtesy shown to our nurses and the officers of the School.

It is with deep sorrow we record the death of one of our beloved Managers, Mrs. John A. Swett. Through many years Mrs. Swett took the greatest interest in the welfare of the School, and by her clear judgment and faithful performance of every duty proved herself a most valued officer. The Managers would record their sense of their great loss, and will ever remember the wise counsel and considerate kindness which endeared Mrs. Swett not only to her associate managers, but to all connected with the School.

Another valued contributor has died during the year. Mrs. D. O. Mills had been the generous and interested friend of the School for many years, and showed her deep appreciation of the valuable work done by our nurses by leaving the School the sum of five thousand dollars. The Managers would gratefully remember the friends who have brightened the Christmas of the sick and destitute ones in Bellevue by their kindly gifts. To the little ones came toys and money from children whose own nurseries were full of loving remembrances of parents and friends. May we not hope that another season will bring gifts from city and country homes to the suffering ones in the wards of Bellevue Hospital?

In closing the record of the year's work, we must be pardoned for making an appeal to the public for a more generous support. By looking over the financial report, it will be seen that the donations and subscriptions for the year have decreased.

Is this right? Are there not many in this great city to whom our nurses have ministered, either to themselves or to their dear ones, and by their tender care and intelligent nursing been the means under God of their restoration to health? These, we are confident, will be grieved to know that our treasury is empty, and will gladly help us not only to continue our present work, but to extend its blessings. Respectfully submitted,

MARY DE WITT CUYLER,
Secretary.

ADDRESS TO THE GRADUATING CLASS

THE BELLEVUE TRAINING-SCHOOL,

BY

V. P. GIBNEY, A.M., M.D.

GREAT epochs in a nation's history serve to enforce lessons, the importance of which seems to increase as the years go by. The Crimean War gave us a Florence Nightingale, and the world realized the immeasurable good which skilled nursing did for suffering humanity. Our own Civil War emphasized the importance of the work which the Training-School has undertaken to accomplish. Over a half million were wounded, and nearly fifty thousand soldiers died of injuries received during the war. Statistics show that over 186,000 died from diseases contracted during this unhappy conflict.

In commenting upon these figures, the deep regret must come to us all, that the first anniversary of the Training-School was celebrated in the year 1874, rather than in 1850. The horrors of war would most surely have been lessened and thousands of families would have been comforted by the thought that their loved ones had been cared for by gentle hands both on field and in hospital.

Take an incident like this told me by a friend who was a Confederate colonel. After the battle of Chicamauga he was detailed to bury the dead, and when he reached the place where the Federal dead and wounded had been thrown into one confused mass, his men proceeded to separate the dead from the dying. There lay rows of wounded men with heads resting on a fallen tree calmly awaiting the summons from a Higher Commander. Deep silence reigned, broken only by the groans of anguish. Brave men clasping a Bible or a portrait of a wife, a mother, or a child in this atmosphere of death, made an impression which time could never erase ! What a work there for the nursing in which you have been trained !

Statistics furnished in the history of the War of the Rebellion, however accurately compiled, give us little idea of the number maimed and crippled for life by the lack of competent nursing.

The Managers of the Bellevue Training-School must certainly have conned well the lessons of the war when they begged the Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction to permit them to begin their modest work in the wards of Bellevue Hospital. To be pioneers in an enterprise so far-reaching in its glorious results is compliment enough for you, Lady Managers of this School, and aught that I might say in your praise this evening would be tame in comparison with the eloquence of the facts already demonstrated.

The country should congratulate itself on the efficiency of its force to meet the demands of a scourge or pestilence that might sweep over the land. When yellow fever invades a community, bands of faithful nurses, trained for the work, are only too eager to respond to the piteous calls of the stricken.

To the members of this class, it is my privilege to extend congratulations upon the profession you have chosen. This is indeed your "Commencement." The two years of apprenticeship served, I am sure, have passed rapidly, for I take it that not one of your number has had occasion to regret the step she has taken. Apart from the deep and absorbing interest which the sufferings of a hospital patient inspire, an atmosphere of sympathy and respect has surrounded the class of 1889. The earlier classes of the School were subjected to the insults of prejudice and ignorance. It remains for you to encounter opposition in your field of labor beyond hospital walls.

The popularity of the School, and your presence this evening bearing its diploma, guarantee your fitness for a work so honorable, so humane, so divine. I need not tell you that the position of a nurse graduating from the Bellevue Training-School is one of great responsibility. There is something about a Bellevue graduate which commands respect. The great demand made upon your Superintendent is evidence that many of us feel a sense of security and confidence when one of your School is in charge of the sick-room.

When I come this evening to welcome you on behalf of that noble guild I so feebly represent, I come to tell you how much more we expect of you than was expected of the classes that preceded you. The princely endowments of pathological laboratories have done much to raise the standard of medical education. If your profession is to be a "help-meet sufficient" for our own, your standard of education must also be higher. We have one foe in common. The battle must be fought shoulder to shoulder, and we shall share the victory.

Your success will depend upon the zeal thrown into the work. You will learn, sooner or later, that training of itself does not make a nurse. Your knowledge may be great, your technique may be faultless, and yet as a nurse you may be a failure. Human nature in civil life differs from human nature in the wards of a hospital. Henceforth, you will receive compensation for your services, and ignorance and prejudice will often control the purse whence your compensation comes.

The cultivation of tact is quite as necessary for the nurse as for the physician. At all times you must remember that all your energy should be directed to the comfort and recovery of the patient. Your training, of course, has been such that you will at all times recognize the physician in charge as your superior officer, whether he commands your respect or not. In the discharge of your duties you can command his respect, and by skilful nursing may save a patient even when the physician is incompetent.

It may surprise you to learn that in a city so enlightened as is Paris, a campaign against trained-nurses has been commenced, and that a return to the old system of nursing by Sisters of Charity has been strongly advocated. From a leader in a recent number of the British Medical Journal, I find that M. Duprès alleges that the mortality in his hospital service before the Sisters left was only one per cent., while it has risen to five per cent. since the introduction of trained nurses. He further charges the nurses with negligence and venality. The writer of the article justly remarks that if any of the newly trained nurses are venal, careless, or incompetent, it indicates insufficient training, and imperfect selection and supervision.

You will pardon me, I trust, for quoting at length from this article, because I am sure it will stimulate you to greater exertion.

"The fact is that the nuns who had charge of the Paris hospital wards were never nurses in the sense in which that title is now everywhere understood, and in the sense in which it has so long been interpreted in England. They were ward managers, housekeepers, kind and often even affectionate superintendents, especially to patients who were devoted to their religious duties. But of the actual duties of nursing and dressing they had rarely even an elementary notion ; they were not instructed in them, nor did they pay the slightest attention to the way in which they were carried out by the ward attendants. These latter were very frequently equally unskilled, and of a very low order of morality and intelligence. They were often excessively venal, and in the highest degree negligent. The nursing of the Paris hospitals in past days was in fact a byword among nations. It is too much to hope that this will be remedied at a stroke. Had the French Sisters of Charity moved with the times, and established training-schools, had they taken their part in the Nightingale movement in England or the Deaconess system of Germany, they might now be in a better position before the world. As it is, they have still the opportunity to take the necessary steps to rival lay nurses in efficiency in the hospitals and asylums which remain to them in Paris and elsewhere in France. The hospital mortality of Paris was till recently a reproach to all France ; it would still be found far in excess of what it ought to be."

Personally, I confidently look for an extension of your work among children. Among the children of the poor, whether in hospitals or their homes, there is no limit to your usefulness. The varied missions of a large city must soon come to recognize the vast good to be accomplished in employing trained nurses for the poor. The testimony of those nurses who have labored among the sick children but emphasizes the philosophy of Him who eighteen centuries ago said : " Suffer little children to come unto me." I need not tell you that the most callous heart can be reached through kindness done a suffering child. If a little child can make her influence felt for years by tender care shown a fellow inmate of a hospital, how much greater must a nurse, who bears the impress of a ministering angel, make her influence felt in a hospital for children.

Vividly do I remember the faithfulness with which a little girl in the 42d Street Hospital nursed another who had no claim for such service except her suffering. The little nurse, Hannah, was a paralytic, and her little patient, Emily, suffered from white swelling of the knee, with profuse suppuration. For one year, Hannah sat by Emily's bedside the greater part of the day and late into the night. The patient was irritable and ungrateful. The nurse was gentle, patient, loving, and tender. If any entertainment were given to the children in the ward, Hannah would invariably ask me to move the bed where her little patient could see. And it was not an uncommon sight, Hannah's arm under Emily's head, lifting her for a better view. Every want seemed to be anticipated. Occasionally even now, some one in addressing the children of the hospital refers to this incident, to find that all the older hospital officials remember the sweet face and lovable disposition of Hannah Peterson.

Let me, therefore, urge you to cultivate a fondness for children, and the sphere of your usefulness will be unbounded.

There are many nurses, who, like many physcians, find their vocation distasteful and drift into other walks of life. A few join the ranks of the married, and experience shows that even these make better wives and mothers for their training. I dare not preach any heresy of this kind, however, for fear of abusing my trust. Let me then, in conclusion, urge you to be faithful nurses, cooperate with the medical profession in the work of healing, and if an ungrateful public do not give you the reward you deserve, you can at least have the consciousness of duty well done.

REGULATIONS FOR TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

The Committee of the Training-School for Nurses has made arrangements with the authorities of Bellevue Hospital for giving two years' training to women desirous of becoming professional nurses.

Those wishing to obtain this course of instruction must themselves apply to the Superintendent of the Training-School, 426 East 26th Street, New York, either in person or by letter, upon whose approval they will be received into the School for one month on probation. The preferable age for candidates is from twenty-five to thirty-five years. The applicant should send, with answers to the paper of questions, a letter from a clergyman testifying to her good moral character, and from a physician stating that she is in sound health. Applicants are received at any time during the year when there is a vacancy, except in July and August. During the month of trial, and previous to obtaining a position in the School, the applicant must be prepared for an examination in reading, penmanship, simple arithmetic, and English dictation. The examination is to test the applicant's ability to read aloud well, to write legibly and accurately, to keep simple accounts, and to take notes of lectures. This amount of education is indispensable for a member of the School, but applicants are reminded that women of superior education and cultivation, when equally qualified as nurses, will be preferred to those who do not possess these advantages.

The superintendent has full power to decide as to their fitness for the work, and the propriety of retaining or dismissing them. She can also, with the approval of the committee, discharge them at any time in case of misconduct or inefficiency. During the month of probation the pupils are boarded and lodged at the expense of the School, but receive no other compensation. They are not expected to wear the uniform of the School, but must come provided with dresses of washing material for use in the Hospital. All clothing must be plainly marked.

Those who prove satisfactory will be accepted as pupil nurses, after agreeing to remain two years in the Training-School for Nurses, and to obey the rules of the School and Hospital.

They will reside in the Home, and serve for the first year as assistants in the wards of Bellevue Hospital ; the second year they will be expected to perform any duty assigned them by the superintendent, either to act as nurses in the Hospital, or to be sent to private cases among the rich or poor.

The pay for the first year is $7.00 a month, for the second year $12.00 a month. This sum is allowed for the dress, text-books, and other expenses of the nurse, in connection with her work, and is in no wise intended as wages, it being considered that the education given is a full equivalent for their services. They are required, after the month of probation, when on duty, to wear the dress prescribed by the Institution; which is of blue and white seersucker, simply made, white apron and cap, and linen collar.

The day nurses are on duty from 8 A.M. to 8 P.M., with an hour off for dinner and additional time for exercise or rest. They are also often given an afternoon during the week, and have a right to the half of Sunday. A vacation of two weeks is allowed each year.

As the Institution is unsectarian, there are no religious services connected with it, except evening prayers, and all nurses are expected to attend the place of worship they prefer once on Sunday.

COURSE OF TRAINING.

The instruction includes:

1. The dressing of blisters, burns, sores, and wounds; the application of fomentations, poultices, cups, and leeches.
2. The administration of enemas, and use of catheter.
3. The management of appliances for uterine complaints.
4. The best method of friction to the body and extremities.
5. The management of helpless patients; making beds; moving, changing, giving bath in bed; and preventing and dressing bed-sores.
6. Bandaging, making bandages and rollers, lining of splints,
7. The preparing, cooking, and serving of delicacies for the sick.

They will also be given instruction in the best practical methods of supplying fresh air, warming and ventilating sick-rooms in a proper manner; and are taught to take care of rooms and wards; to keep all utensils perfectly clean and disinfected; to make accurate observations and reports to the physician of the state of the secretions, expectoration, pulse, skin, appetite, temperature of the body, intelligence—as delirium or stupor,—breathing, sleep, condition of wounds, eruptions, formation of matter, effect of diet, or of stimulants, or of medicines; and to learn the management of convalescents.

The teaching will be given by visiting and resident physicians and surgeons at the bedside of the patients, and by the superintendent, assistant superintendent, and head nurses. Lectures, recitations, and demonstrations will take place from time to time, and examinations at stated periods.

When the full term of two years is ended, the nurses thus trained can choose their own field of labor, whether in hospitals, in private families, or in district nursing among the poor. On leaving the School they will, after passing the final examination, each receive a diploma signed by the Examining Board and by a Committee of the Board of Managers.

This day the Nurse . . . . . .
has been sent on the recommendation of . . . . . .
to nurse in case of . . . . . .

Superintendent.

REGULATIONS.

The charge for the services of a nurse is $3 a day, or if employed one week or more, $16 per week. Travelling expenses and washing to be paid by the family employing the nurse.

When the nurse's services are no longer required, this sheet of paper is to be returned, sealed up, with a candid statement, on the fly-leaf, of her conduct and efficiency, either from one of the family or the medical attendant, together with information of the amount to be paid, and whether it is enclosed or will be paid at the office of the Society.

The nurse is to be allowed reasonable time for rest in every twenty-four hours; and when her services are needed for several consecutive nights, at least six hours in the day out of the sick-room must be given her.

Except in cases of extreme illness, the nurse must be allowed opportunity to attend church once every Sunday.

When on duty the nurse is always to wear the dress prescribed for her by the regulations of the Society.

Patients and their friends are invited to contribute to the general funds of the Society, and thus assist in enabling it to afford the advantages of gratuitous nursing to the poor, which is one of the objects the Association hopes to accomplish.

Where it is possible, a few days' notice of the nurse's return to the Home should be sent to the superintendent.

COPY OF PAPER RETURNED BY EMPLOYERS.

Remarks as to conduct, efficiency, etc.

BELLEVUE REGISTRY FOR NURSES.

The Managers of the Training-School have established a registry for their graduates, where medical, surgical, and obstetrical nurses, and those competent to take charge of nervous patients, can be obtained by applying either in person, by letter, or telegram, to the office of the Society, 426 East 26th Street.

The terms of the registered nurses are $20 per week, for contagious cases $25 per week, unless special arrangements are made with the nurse for more or less pay.

A list of these nurses will be found on page 44.

1. The fee is $10 a year, due after January 1st.

2. Nurses are to keep the superintendent informed of their place of residence, and when they are ready for a call, and also when they have accepted a case, either obtained from the office or from any other source.

Postal cards addressed to the office will be furnished for this purpose.

3. Nurses, while in attendance in the sick-room, are to wear a cap, apron, and dress of washing material, unless the patient or family object, or the circumstances of the case render such a dress inappropriate.

4. Nurses are to report to the office when, from sickness or any other cause, they are obliged to leave a patient who still needs the services of a nurse, so that their place can be supplied as soon as possible.

5. It is the duty of a nurse to take the care of the patient's room, if her time is not fully occupied by the patient ; and also to make herself generally useful and acceptable to the family.

6. Before making an engagement a nurse should mention her terms, or if that is not practicable, then, as soon after as convenient, and when an engagement is once made, she should consider herself bound to keep it, and not be induced to break her word in order to please a patient or to secure a more advantageous position.

If any graduate of the School in charge of a case has proved unsatisfactory, the employer is requested to report the fact to the superintendent.

The regulations for employers are the same as those generally used in registries for nurses.

1. Travelling expenses and washing are to be paid by the employers of the nurses, unless some different arrangement has been made between them.

2. A meal should be provided for a nurse when she is required to be awake all night.

3. When it is necessary for a nurse to care for a very sick person for several nights in succession, she should be allowed not less than six hours' sleep during the days.

4. When taking entire charge of a nervous patient night and day, though a nurse may not lose her sleep, it is better for both patient and nurse that she have some time for exercise in the open air apart from the patient.

It is not expedient to multiply rules, as they are not all of general application, and many details must be regulated by the circumstances of the case. We only ask for the nurses the consideration and kindness due to those who contribute so much to the comfort and well-being of members of the family.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE SOCIETY.

ARTICLE I.

The Society shall be known by its incorporated name of "THE TRAINING-SCHOOL FOR NURSES." (Incorporated February 5, 1874.)

ARTICLE II.

The object of the Society, as defined by its charter, is "the selection, education, training, and providing of suitable persons as nurses for the sick."

ARTICLE III.

The Society shall report monthly and annually in writing to the "New York County Visiting Committee for Bellevue and Other Public Institutions," a branch of the State Charities Aid Association.

ARTICLE IV.

The Society shall consist of Honorary Members, Benefactors, Patrons, Members, and Associate Members.

ARTICLE V.

The Officers of the Society shall be a President, a Vice-President, a Secretary, and a Treasurer. They shall be elected annually by a two-thirds vote, by ballot, of the Board of Managers, from among its Members. In case of the death or resignation of an Officer, a successor for the remainder of the year may be elected by a two-thirds vote, by ballot, of the Board of Managers, at any Regular or Special Meeting of the Board, two weeks' notice having been given in writing to the Members by the President or Secretary.

ARTICLE VI.

The President shall preside at all Meetings of the Board of Managers, and shall call Special Meetings at discretion, or upon the written request of three Members. The President shall name the Members of Standing and Special Committees, and shall appoint, annually, an Auditing Committee of two gentlemen, Members of the Society, but not Members of the Board of Managers, to examine and report upon the Accounts of the Treasurer.

ARTICLE VII.

The Vice-President shall, in the absence of the President, perform the duties of the President.

ARTICLE VIII.

The Secretary shall perform the duties usually appertaining to this office.

ARTICLE IX.

The Treasurer shall receive, invest, and take charge of the funds of the Society, and shall make written Monthly Reports to the Board of Managers, of the condition of the Treasury, and a written Annual Report to the President, at the Annual Meeting of the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE X.

There shall be a Board of Managers, consisting of not less than eleven Members. Five Members of this Board shall be Members of the New York County Visiting Committee for Bellevue and Other Public Institutions. The Board may make its own By-Laws, and fill vacancies in its own body. The Board may, by a two-thirds vote, remove any Member for cause. It shall prepare the Annual Report, and submit it to the Society for approval at the Annual Meeting. It shall hold its Annual Meeting just previous to that of the Society. No Member of the Board of Managers shall receive a salary nor any compensation for services rendered. Five Members of the Board shall constitute a quorum at any Meeting.

The absence of any Member of the Board of Managers from Meetings of Committees of which he or she may be a Member, for a consecutive period of three months, without giving notice to the Secretary, may be considered by the President as equivalent to a resignation.

ARTICLE XI.

The Board of Managers shall control the management of the School, shall have power to appoint and remove the Superintendent of the School, and sha l determine the salaries of all nurses and subordinates.

ARTICLE XII.

There shall be a Committee upon Nominations composed of the President and three Managers. The names of persons eligible for Managers of this Institution shall be presented to this Committee, and in the event of vacancy in the Board, this Committee shall report and recommend the party or parties eligible for election. After such nominations by the Committee, one month shall elapse, when the election shall take place by ballot at any Meeting at which two thirds of the Managers are present.

ARTICLE XIII.

The Finance Committee shall, with the Treasurer, manage the finances of the Society.

ARTICLE XIV.

Honorary Members shall be chosen only for important service and valuable aid rendered to the School. They shall be exempted from the payment of all dues. They shall be nominated by the Board of Managers, and elected by the Society at its Annual Meeting.

ARTICLE XV.

Benefactors.—Any person who shall give One Thousand Dollars at one time to this Society shall be entitled to all the privileges of membership, without the payment of annual dues. A Benefactor shall have the right to nominate two pupils, who, upon conforming to the rules for admission, shall have preference over all other applicants to the first two vacancies, and be received and trained in the School.

NAMES OF MEMBERS OF THE BELLEVUE REGISTRY

BY THE ANNUAL PAYMENT OF $10 TO THE SOCIETY.

Their addresses and engagements can be found by applying to the Superintendent at 426 East 26th Street.
